

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of recognizing speech includes determining active ranges of states to be processed for each frame and performing recognition operations for each frame only on states within the active ranges.